HISTORY NOTE

Thanks to Moremen family descendent Lee Ann Toy, Historic Site Manager Patti Linn and Site Supervisor Teresa Lee were able to explore the former home site of Alanson and Rachel Moremen and the family cemetery in Brandenburg, Kentucky. The oldest of Alanson and Rachel's sons Alanzo and his wife Mary inherited the home which was named Glen Fount. The house and outbuildings are gone, but some evidence of the buildings remain. Many of Alanzo and Mary's descendants are still in the Brandenburg area. Both Patti and Teresa were impressed by how similar the Glen Fount location feels to Riverside. Glen Fount sits up on a ridge in close proximity to the Ohio River. It also featured a riverboat landing.

Upper Left: Riverside Site Manager Patti Linn exploring the site of Glen Fount, the home of Alanson and Rachel Moremen in Brandenburg, KY (their home before moving to Riverside)
Upper Center: Moremen family descendant Lee Ann Toy and Site Supervisor Teresa Lee look at the remains of a 19th century "potash factory" that the Moremen family once operated.
At Right: Alanson and Rachel Moremen's tombstones.

IN MEMORIAM: HELEN FENSKE

Riverside recently lost a very good friend. Long-time Riverside volunteer Helen Fenske passed away. Helen had been involved in the Riverside Garden Club for several years. She helped care for the historic garden—and shared her knowledge and love of beekeeping at some of our special events over the years. Helen was always a dependable volunteer assistant during our annual Plant and Herb Sale. Her enthusiasm for Riverside led her to begin training as a tour guide just in the last few months. We are going to miss Helen's fun-loving spirit and smile.

EXPLORING THE PAST AND THE POTENTIAL OF INDUSTRIAL HEMP IN KENTUCKY

TUESDAY, MARCH 12
6:30 PM
RIVERSIDE VISITORS CENTER

Presented by:
Kirstin Bohnert & Alyssa Erickson
The "Kentucky Hempsters"
United Hemp Industries
With an introduction by
Kathy Nichols, Director
Farmington Historic Plantation
Sponsored by the Riverside Garden Club

We were recently able to dress a four poster bed in the upstairs "Children's Bedroom" with a reproduction counter pane and valance thanks to an anonymous benefactor.

The bed was a donation from Dawne Gee.

Recent archaeology finds at Riverside include a Native American arrowhead (left) dated AD 1200-1600 and a Dalton Point (right) dated 8550-7900 BC. Both are reminders that humans have been drawn to this place by the Ohio River's abundant resources for thousands of years before the Farnsley-Moremen House was built.
